Hockey, Boys! Hockey

Some deplore the cold weather, some applaud it, and among the latter one can safely include the hockey teams. Not for years have the conditions been so favorable for fast and continuous play, and this fact is arousing a considerable amount of enthusiasm. In addition to Didsbury, our neighboring towns are all beaming with pleasure and the prospects are that each will take the ice this season with a plethora of players.

The annual meeting of the Rosebud League was held at Olds last week, among the towns represented were Innisfail, Bowden, Didsbury, and Olds, all of whom will participate in the schedule, with the addition, it is expected, of Carstairs also.

The officials elected at the meeting include one from each town. Didsbury being represented by C. Cook.

The local team is now in process of forming, and sufficient material has already been secured to guarantee a good team. It is desired, however, to have as many members as possible, and those who would like to join up are asked to see C. Cook at Huget's store.

A meeting will be held at the rink on Monday evening next, December 6th, to organize for the coming season, and everyone is asked to turn out and help in the selection of officers, etc.

Didsbury's Curlers Take the Ice.

Carstairs Strong with Three Rinks.

Judging from the number of members enrolled and the interest displayed the old winter pastime of curling has lost none of its fascination for our local residents. So far fourteen rinks have been selected in Didsbury, and Carstairs will add three more. It is possible that yet another will be formed. The ladies have not as yet taken a prominent part, but it is understood there is a possibility.

On Monday night a meeting was held at the Curling Rink and the following skips elected—Clarke (Dr.), Derby, Fisher, Huget, Julien, Kauffman, McChes, McCloy, Miller, Reed, Sinclair Studer, Watt and Weber for Didsbury. The skips for Carstairs are Campbell, Maynes and Pepper.

Play commenced on Wednesday night, at seven and nine p.m. respectively. The ice was in good shape and every man keen on his job.

In addition to the improved conditions, so far as the ice is concerned, other features this year promise to make the season additionally interesting. One of them is largely increased membership, and the other is the co-operation of Carstairs. The inclusion of our sister town has been ardently welcomed in Didsbury and its three rinks will not only be a valuable acquisition but the intimate relations existing between a large majority of the members and the Didsbury rinks will help to accentuate the good fellowship of all.

Hereafter consumers of electric light in Didsbury are warned that no discount will be allowed after the 20th of each month. This regulation in future will be strictly enforced and consumers are asked to govern themselves accordingly.

Worked 75 Years For One Firm

And During That Time He Took no Vacations

An unusual record for length of service with the one company was possessed by William Middleton, father of Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton, of the Supreme Court of Ontario, who died in Toronto recently in his 95th year.

Mr. Middleton had worked for a local hosiery firm from the time he was 15 years old up until his retirement six months ago. 75 years, and during all this time he took no vacations, and was kept away from his office only six days through illness.—Canadian Associated Press.

Will Be Healthy Year

According to the astronomers who keep tab on such things, the ultra violet rays of the sun will be more plentiful in 1927 than they have been since the corresponding period in the sun spot cycle eleven years ago. Since these are the curative rays of which we hear so much nowadays, next year may set a new record in health, if we will only find our place, literally in the sun.

A Talking Letter

Noted German Physicist Invents Method for Reproducing Human Voice on Note Paper

A talking letter has been invented by the noted German physicist, Carl Rammelsberg, who announces he has discovered a method of photographing the human voice. The principal is similar to that of the dictaphone, except that the voice is reproduced upon "zellit" leaves—a cellulose by-product.

A page of "zellit" similar in size to ordinary note paper will hold 15 minutes dictation and the "talking letters" can be placed in envelopes and mailed. The recipient inserts the letter in an apparatus somewhat like a phonograph, which reproduces the original voice.

Prof. Rammelsberg also is working upon "talking books."

Propose Change In King George's Title

Deletion of Term "United Kingdom" Endorsed by Conference

A change in the title of His Majesty the King is recommended in the report of the Inter-Imperial relations committee adopted by the Imperial Conference. In this important alteration the term "United Kingdom" disappears. The change, it is explained, is necessitated by the Irish Free State becoming an autonomous, self-governing Dominion.

Here is the present title of His Majesty:

"His Most Excellent Majesty, George the Fifth, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions Beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India."

Here is the Royal title under the proposed change:

"His Most Excellent Majesty, George the Fifth, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions Beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India."

The proposal was endorsed at the plenary session of the conference.

Favorable Business Outlook

Purchasing Power of Crop Only Slightly Less Than Last Year

The monthly business summary of the Bank of Montreal says: "During the month uncertainty as to the crop situation in the prairie provinces, caused by adverse weather, has been dispelled, for although much damage was done, the crops which have been garnered are satisfactory on the whole and represent a purchasing power only slightly less than that of the crops of last year. Thus, this major element of doubt in regard to business has been removed and the outlook is one of reasonable assurance."

"The improvement in industry and commerce, which has been a feature of the current year, continues, and is perhaps most strikingly manifested in railway traffic, while wholesale trade is appreciably better than last year, and retail trade has improved, despite the difficulties of transportation in rural districts through a prolonged period of wet weather. Manufacturing operations on the whole are good."

An Interesting Experiment

Professor Seeks Ray to Imitate Sunlight Ray Under Water

Experiments to find a ray which will imitate the rays of sunlight under water, and prevent the formation and stop the growth of anchor ice, which is the ice which grows at the bottom of open water, will be conducted this winter on the Upper St. Lawrence by Dr. Howard T. Barnes, well-known specialist in ice research and professor of physics at McGill University.

Dr. Barnes already has devised a special lamp which gives out rays to imitate the rays of the sun, which he hopes will prove successful.

RUTH AND NAOMI

Golden Text: Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.—Ruth. 1:16.

Lesson: Book of Ruth.

Devotional Reading: I. Corinthians; 13:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

1. The Beginning of the Story, verses 1-14.—A severe famine in their own land had driven a family of Bethlehem, Elimelech, his wife Naomi, and their two sons, to the land of Moab. There they settled and the sons married two daughters of Moab, Ruth and Orpha. Ten years passed. Father and sons found their graves in the alien soil. Naomi determined to return to her native home. In eastern lands farewells seldom take place in the usual custom when they accompanied Naomi a short distance on her way. When Naomi thought they had gone far enough to show her fitting respect, she stopped to dismiss them. They wept as Naomi bade each of them return to her mother's house. Orpha kissed her mother-in-law, "and returned to her people," the Greek version adds. But Ruth clung to her.

"There is a great deal of affection in the world like the affection of Orpha. It is sincere and honest, but it does not rise to the rare opportunity of the critical hour. It makes the world a sweeter and more friendly place, but it does not dazzle us with the sudden shining of almost unbelievable devotion. It retains a great deal which is lost by the great adventurers of the world. It loses a great deal which is won by those who leave everything in the name of a supreme devotion. We have only kind thoughts of Orpha, but after all she missed her one opportunity to be incorporated into the life of a people who represented the highest ethical and spiritual life in the world."—(Dr. Lynn H. Hugh.)

The Prince Apologized

His Name Was Wales, But He Couldn't Help It

The Prince of Wales once humorously apologized for his royal title, according to one of several new stories about him in Major F. E. Verney's book "H.R.H., a Character Study," which has just appeared.

The Prince, as a junior midshipman on the battleship Hindustan, was found by a lieutenant in the wardroom, sacred to the ranks of sub-lieutenants and upwards.

"What's your name?" demanded the lieutenant, "and what the deuce are you doing in the wardroom?"

The Prince slid to his feet—"Wales, sir," said he. "The captain brought me in here. I hope you don't mind frightfully."

W-h-a-a-t? You cheeky young devil; get out of this before I kick." He paused and took a good look at the offender. "Dammit! I believe you are Wales."

The Prince grinned apologetically. "Sorry, sir, I believe I am, too—but I can't help it."

Gift To Royal Church Dedicated

Beautiful Pulpit Presented by Wanamaker to Late Queen Alexandra

At Sandringham Parish Church a new pulpit has been dedicated by the Rev. A. Fuller, rector and domestic chaplain to the King. The King and Queen and Princess Mary were present.

The pulpit was presented to Queen Alexandra in celebration of her Majesty's 80th birthday by Rodman Wanamaker, an American admirer of King Edward and his Consort.

The body of the pulpit is built of oak, panelled in oxidized silver, with figure work in high relief, surrounded by tracery and very fine detail work. It is surrounded by a pierced bronze and silver gallery and hand-rail. The base of the pulpit is octagonal in plan and richly carved, and fits into a small bronze base, which in turn rests upon a plinth of polished black marble.

A silver tablet, given by the King, to the memory of Queen Alexandra, was also dedicated.

Notable Ceremony At Imperial Conference

Paul Kruger's Travelling Wagon Given Back to South Africa

One of the most notable ceremonies held during the visit of the Dominion Premiers to England for the Imperial Conference was the conferment of the freedom of London on Premiers J. B. M. Hertzog, J. G. Coates, and W. S. Monroe at the Guildhall, and the subsequent luncheon at Mansion House, where the Lord Mayor offered Premier Hertzog the travelling wagon used by Paul Kruger, president of the Transvaal Republic at the time of the Boer War, which Lord Kitchener originally presented to Lord Bearsted, former Lord Mayor, who afterward presented it to the city.

The South African Prime Minister, in accepting the gift on behalf of the Union, said the act of friendship and good will will be deeply appreciated for the motives inspiring it. The wagon was brought to London as a proof of Britain's victory in the Boer War and it would, he said, be returned to its old home as a proof that Britain had been defeated by friendship.

Referring to the Imperial Conference, Premier Hertzog said:

"Our endeavor has been to build and not to destroy. I leave London with full satisfaction that our achievement will prove a lasting success and a pleasure to us all severally and jointly."

Heavy Wheat Yields

High Yields Reported From Many Parts of Alberta

Further reports to the Alberta Department of Agriculture record many heavy yields of wheat. Alex. Godkin at Majorville, reports 28 bushels per acre on 100 acres; H. Sorenson, of Ledue, had 37 bushels on 104 acres; M. Martin, of Strome, had 39 bushels on 100 acres and H. Linde, of Gwynne, had 43 bushels on 30 acres. D. Morgan, at Hellsier, averaged 38 bushels on 200 acres; Allan Gallinger, at Clairmont, in the Grande Prairie district, made a 40 bushel average on 220 acres and many other growers had similar yields. The 100-acre farm of Dr. Wm. Whelan, at Granum, yielded an average of 60 bushels to the acre.

Abundance of Soil Moisture

The Western Provinces are going into the winter with an abundance of soil moisture, which will remain in the ground until the crop takes it out next spring and summer," says the latest bulletin of the General Agricultural Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway. The report adds that there is plenty of pasture for both horses and cattle in the stubble fields and livestock generally are going into winter quarters in good condition.

Could Not Sleep Heart and Nerves Were So Bad

Mr. Geo. Meek, Windsor, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with my heart and nerves and could not sleep at night for noises in my head. I managed to keep at my work somehow, until I began to have dizzy spells which got so bad I could not go to my work. I was afraid to go out any place, for very often I would stagger on my feet, and everything in front of me would turn black and fade away. While I was home sick a friend told me to take

I got four boxes and by the time I had used them the pains and noises in my head ceased and I was able to get a good night's rest. Although that was six years ago I have never been troubled with that complaint again."

A Blow At Tradition

Introducing Modernity in Turkey With a Bang

Imperial tradition again has received a rude blow from modern Turkey.

For one night the sublime porte, the famous edifice from which Grand Viziers once hurled their decrees, was transformed into a dancing hall.

The Governor of Constantinople, Sulciman Sami Bey, chose this historic relic of the old regime as the place in which to give a ball celebrating the third anniversary of the new Republican regime.

One of the most noteworthy features of this occasion was the fact that Madame Sami Bey, unveiled and in full evening dress, received in line with her husband, the Governor, and other officials.

This was the first time that a Turkish woman had even been in the reception line of an official affair.

LARGE PIMPLES ITCHED BADLY

On Face, Shoulders and Arms: Cuticura Heals.

"My trouble began with pimples breaking out on my face, shoulders and arms. They were large, hard and red, and festered, and scaled over, causing disfigurement. "I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they afforded relief in a short time. I continued the treatment and after using four cakes of Soap and four boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Grace M. Ward, Thetford Center, Vt., Aug. 12, 1925.

down on the girl in the big bed, gleaming, glittering bed of golds and pinks and blues mounted on a dais under a gorgeous canopy of gold lace against pink taffetas. Martha seemed to hover, for a moment, at the edge of a scolding, but dutifully remembered that, after all, the girl in the bed, whose eyes were twinkling up at her, was "Mademoiselle" and she was Martha. So all she said was:

"Mademoiselle did not return from Prince Michael's until three o'clock this morning."

"That's so!" agreed the voice, emphatically, as if suddenly reminded. "There was an affair last night, wasn't there? And something happened. I know something happened, because something always does when Michael feels the urge. And Michael was urged, last night, Martha. Very urged. While you run my bath I will try to remember what about. Maybe it was me. If so, I will tell you about it while I splash."

While Martha busied herself with the taps over the pink marble pool in a glistening shower-room, the girl in the bed sat up, drew up her knees until her elbows could rest on them and her chin on her wrists. Her brow wrinkled a little as if trying to remember. The warm sunshine wrapped the cuddled figure in yellow splendor. Thin shadow lines from the diamond patterned bars of the clematis trellis outside the window romped through the filmy, diaphanous chiffon of the girl's pajamas and twisted about her like mischievous fairy arms. Suddenly the puckered brow cleared and a laugh that was as vibrant as music rippled at red lips.

Martha turned off her taps, satisfied at last that the water was just warm enough—her mistress ever refused to brave a cold shower—and went up to the bed, a flaming yellow robe of transparent silk over arm, tiny satin boudoir mules in her hand. While she knelt at the dais to slip the mules on bare feet, and then stood to receive the slim form in the fold of the robe, the voice promised:

"If you haven't made the water too cold, Martha, I'll tell you what it was that happened last night as soon as I'm in it. If it's cold you shan't know a thing."

When the robe had fallen and the pajamas had been tossed, rolled into a ball, at Martha's head, and the splashing in the marble pool was begun, Martha was merrily informed:

HOW TO RELIEVE CHILDREN'S COLDS

Avoid Serious Results by Using Baby's Own Tablets

When a child shows the first symptoms of a cold, such as sneezing, redness of the eyes, clogged or running nose, prompt measures for relief may avert serious results. Mothers should always have on hand some simple, safe and effective remedy for immediate use.

Baby's Own Tablets act quickly, contain no opiates or narcotics, are tasteless and harmless. Mrs. Joseph Cadieux, Holyoke, Mass., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children and find them a very satisfactory medicine. When my little boy had a cold I gave him the Tablets at night and he was well next day. I give them to the children for constipation and they always do good. I think Baby's Own Tablets are much easier to give a child than liquid medicine. I recommend the Tablets to all mothers who have small children and believe they should always be kept on hand."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—breakdown, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. CHAPTER XX.—Continued

She smiled at them both. "I couldn't say that so easily," she explained brightly. "If it wasn't that I'd read, some place, that those three things were particularly wicked, I recognized them immediately as the ghosts that were always haunting me. John and Mrs. Adams misunderstood me if I went out and didn't get home until four in the morning. They thought there couldn't be any place decent for a girl to be after half-past ten. If I took a swallow out of their flasks the boys distrusted me when I drew a line they mustn't cross, and said I was fooling or that I wouldn't take the swallow. And a lot of men and women who didn't have the good time when they were young that I tried to have were envious of me because I happened to be young in these days instead of then, so they said I must be bad like all other modern girls. That's the way you count them up, you know—Misunderstanding, Distrust and Envy. I've always had the three of them in my mind, but I haven't had people, before, to whom I could talk about the things I really feel. I've just known boys, and their main line of talk has been, 'Give me a kiss.'"

"And," Brandon urged, quickly, "your response to that 'line,' as you say, has been?"

Joanna considered a moment. Then she said, as if she were speaking with judicial concern: "It doesn't sound right, I know, but my idea has always been that today a girl shouldn't be afraid of a kiss, because it's better to give and take them, and know what they amount to, than it is to think about them all the time and then take them too seriously, like girls used to do."

Eggleston was silent. Brandon after he had toyed, for a moment, with a fork, deftly turned the conversation into a different channel. He invoked a discussion of the people Joanna had met the night before, at Yvonne's.

"And you think," Eggleston asked, "that these people are most desirable? That they represent the better things of life, and follow the paths along which a young girl should tread?"

"I don't know," Joanna confessed briefly. "I've got to find out. At least, they are not downhearted. I hate people who are downhearted. There's time enough for that when the undertaker begins to count on you."

"For you, at least," Eggleston remarked, "there is quite an interval before that time arrives."

"Yes," Joanna agreed, "and when that time does come I want to look back and say O.K. If the money does that for me I'll be satisfied."

"It needed the money, then," Brandon asked, "to make that prospect possible?"

"You can't get anywhere without money, can you? Everybody I know wants nothing else but that. That is, everybody but one."

Eggleston caught her up, sharply. "There is one, then?"

"Yes," she replied. "One. But I don't want to talk about him now."

When they had finished their luncheon it was Eggleston who found an excuse for Joanna to stand, for a short time, in the library again. And it was he who manoeuvred her so that, for a brief moment, she stood close to the fireplace, beneath the painting in the gold frame. Then he dismissed her. He had asked nothing of her plans, and there had been only the brief discussion of the business of transforming securities into cash. To Brandon, when they were settled in her car, she said: "He's such a funny old man isn't he?" Brandon agreed shortly.

They had driven but a few blocks when Joanna unceremoniously put Brandon out of the cabriolet, depositing him on the sidewalk. "I have a terribly secret errand," she explained, "and you must go on alone. You won't mind, will you?" He laughed, good humoredly at his dismissal and was comforted by a wave of her hand, through the rear window of her car, as the cabriolet drew away. Then she picked up her speaking tube and gave her order to the driver:

"Go back, as fast as possible, to Mr. Eggleston's—the house we just left."

The afternoon had worn away when Joanna, something very happy shining in her face, came down Eggleston's steps and stepped into her car. If she could have looked back into Eggle-ton's library, just then, she would have seen him, almost hidden among the darkening shadows of the great room she had just left, standing motionless, his eyes lifted in silent communion with the girl of yesterday in the gold frame.

CHAPTER XXI.—

The Golden Girl

A wilful beam of mid-morning sun found a crevice between the rose hued drapes that were intended to keep it from whatever secrets were within their window, and made straight for the face that was almost lost in a mound of pillows—pillows of exquisite lace and silk from golden looms.

The vagrant beam glided in its discovery, in the shimmer it aroused in gold brown hair, in the velvet white and startlingly youthful contours of the face so invitingly nestled in its caress.

Brown lashes fluttered under the sun ray's provocation and a bare white arm, velvet like the face, crept out from some place underneath the shimmering hair. The slender form outlined under the web like cover that was also of a silken lace that may have been priceless, stirred and straightened, revealing the symmetries that were just curved away from boyishness.

A voice that was drowsy but not without its note of petulance, asked: "What time is it?"

Out of the unnatural darkness of the room made by the drawn curtains, another voice, clearly that of a patient servant, answered: "It is quite ten o'clock, Mademoiselle. Shall I open the curtains, Mademoiselle?"

Again the sleep voice from the depths of the huge, soft bed; "If you please, Martha."

Martha, very neat and prim in gray morning garb, rose from the edge of the chaise longue where she had perched silently through two hours waiting for the beautiful form in the bed to stir, and pulled the curtain ropes. Like a yellow flood the transfiguring Rivera sun burst through the nest of broad windows that curved out from the room in a semi circle, all shut off together by the heavy shell pink drapes. Bewildering, exotic odors of orange, mimosa and clematis filled the room with the sunshine, each separate fragrance seeming to bring up from the calm Mediterranean down below some ineffable perfume of March morning romance.

When Martha turned from the windows the voice from the bed, not sleepy now, but alert, rippling:

"I ought to be dreadfully cross with you, you know, for letting me sleep so late," it said in mock severity; "but I suppose you will say that I looked so comfortable you hated to disturb me."

Martha, American from head to toe despite her "mademoiselle" and her French ribbons and ruffles, looked

STRATFORD WOMAN

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Stratford, Ontario.—"After my first baby was born I started to work on the tenth day and did a big washing on the twelfth day. Being so young (I was married at 19) I did not know what was the matter, so let it go until I was all run-down, weak and nervous, and had a bad displacement. For nearly two years I could not sleep and I would always complain of having 'not a head-ache, but a brain-ache.' My mother is taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life and she recommended it to me. After taking two bottles I began to get a little sleep and to feel better and I have never left off since then, except for about three months. I can safely say I have taken thirty bottles since my second baby was born. I think it makes child-birth easier as I had terrible pains with my first three children and very few with my fourth as I was so much stronger. I am now able to do my work alone, but I am still taking the Vegetable Compound as I am nursing baby."—Mrs. OMER PAUL, 49 Cherry Street, Stratford, Ontario.

If you are suffering from any weaknesses which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

Local and General.

The Christmas Spirit

The local stores are already ablaze with Christmas goods, and nearly every one of them has made preparation for big business. Consignments of goods for the yuletide season have been arriving now for some weeks and for those who contemplate sending presents across the sea they will find ample choice locally.

We observe that an extra effort has been made for a supply of seasonable toys. Perhaps it is in this department that the spirit of Christmas is most apparent. Here the old become young again, staid business men explore the intricacies of toy trains and busy mothers plan wardrobes for blue-eyed dolls.

There are lovely displays of lingerie, hosiery, gloves and neckwear, too, presenting a hundred suggestions, whilst in other stores the golfer, card enthusiast, smoker and sportsman are none of them forgotten. Rarely have the business men of Didsbury put forth such big effort to meet the requirements of their customers, and one can but hope that the effort will meet with the success which it deserves.

The advertising columns of "The Pioneer" this week contain invitations from men whom you know personally. Why not pay these stores a visit. You will be both surprised and delighted at the varied assortment of gifts, and the additional enjoyment obtained in spending your money at home will give zest to the Christmas spirit.

Get your Christmas Cards at the Pioneer office.

Everybody come to the Christmas entertainment at Grand Centre, December 21st.

Mr. A. Speakman, M.P., visited his home for a few hours on Sunday. He will be in the hospital for a day or two yet, but is walking about better than when he came home from Ottawa in the fall.—Red Deer Advocate.

Six more cars of settlers effects arrived at Olds this week. This makes 35 immigrant cars as having arrived here in less than one month.—Olds Gazette.

Five gold nuggets are reported to have been taken from a turkey which served as a Thanksgiving dinner of a family living at Butte, Mont. The modern turkey evidently made a valiant effort to beat the mediaeval goose.

The Calgary Power Co., which a few months ago, along with other towns along the C. and E., was corresponding with our local municipal authorities with reference to supplying us with electricity, has apparently turned its attention, and energies to the south. Both Okotoks and High River were lighted with power from the Bow River for the first time on Sunday night, when the above company switched over to the new lines. It is expected that Blackie will also be supplied before Christmas.

The wedding took place at Christ's Episcopal church, Alameda, California, on November 6th, at 7 o'clock, of Edith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Currier of Alameda, to Mr. Eric William Leadbetter, son of Mr. William Leadbetter of Didsbury.

Alberta. The Rev. Shins officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Leadbetter will make their home in Alameda.

The Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. J. E. Huget on Friday, December 10th, at 2.30 p.m. All members are requested to attend.

Mrs. R. McInnis, who has been visiting Mrs. E. Cressman the past week, returned to Calgary on Tuesday.

Miss Rose Bender of Stettler has been visiting Miss Cressman over the week-end.

The Women's Guild of St. Cyprian's Church will hold their Christmas sale on Saturday, December 11th, at the Opera House. Home-cooking and needlework.

The cold weather continues, and apparently judging from indications very little change can be expected for a few days at least. The thermometer has been hovering now for over a week round about zero, now up, now down, just sufficient change to justify the pessimist and optimist both. The weather man is impartial at any rate.

The annual Bazaar of Knox Ladies' Aid will be held in the Opera House on Saturday, December 4th, from three to six p.m. All sorts of pretty and useful things for Christmas will be on sale, as well as home-cooking and candy. Afternoon tea will also be served.

Just arrived—a large shipment of ladies' fine pumps and Oxfords at Berscht's.

Percy Lunt, Carl Brightman, Ed. Ford and Walter Johnson returned from a hunting trip up north last week. Two moose and several coyotes rewarded their efforts. Lunt and Johnson have both left for B.C.

Jim McGhee left on Tuesday night for Chilliwack, B.C., where his father is seriously ill with pneumonia. During his absence Percy Seal is relieving.

A very successful meeting of the I.O.D.E. was held at Miss Vera Smith's on Tuesday night, when the business of the past month was discussed and disposed of.

Mrs. Julson of Calgary was an interested visitor at the meeting of the W.C.T.U. held at Mrs. Reiber's last evening.

One of the Calgary papers last week "Herald-ed" the fact that Santa Claus had been delayed on his way down from the north. The next morning six young puppies were discovered underneath the back verandah of the Pioneer office.

Now—we wonder?

A dance will be held in Rosebud school on Friday, December 3rd. Come and have a good time with us.

The Mountain View Women's Institute will hold a bazaar and dance on the evening of Friday, December 10th in the Community Hall, at 7.30 p.m. A cordial invitation to all. Proceeds will be devoted to painting of the hall.

All possible steps are being taken by the provincial and Dominion seed branches to conserve the supply of seed oats in the province, due to the shortage which exists. The elevator companies are responding to the request that they store whatever seed oats are available, and it is hoped that if all elevator companies do this, rather than ship the oats out of the province, the situation can be taken care of. Farmers who need seed oats should apply to elevators at once. Those farmers who have oats they wish to use for seed should obtain a germination test as soon as possible.

CHAPTER XX In Eggleston's Home

A butler, the ancient one whose years seemed to identify him with the old house, brought word that Mr. Eggleston would join them shortly, if they would be pleased to wait. Brandon, when the old man had disappeared noiselessly, held out his cigarette case to Joanna. She shook her head.

"No, not in here," she said. "Somehow, it doesn't seem as if—, as if one smoked in this house, does it?"

"That is a curious feeling," he observed. "I don't imagine my esteemed uncle smokes them, but I fancy he is not unused to them. Surely you would not adopt a pose of innocence of them because of a visionary regard for your banker's tastes?"

"No," she replied, "I wouldn't do that. But, just the same, I don't want to smoke."

She moved away from the table and to a window. Brandon, eyeing her closely, saw that as she crossed the room her glance fell again on the painting over the fireplace. She looked from the window out into the avenue, for a minute or two, then turned suddenly and went directly up to the fireplace. The action was as if in response to some occult summons from the girl who looked down so serenely from the canvas.

Toronto, Ontario. "My daughter is 16 now and has been an invalid ever since she was six months old and has been compelled to remain out of school the greater part of the time. We have tried different kinds of medicine, but none helped her much. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was run-down, and it had helped me so much that I thought it might help her at this time. She has gained ever since she began taking it. She attends school every day now and goes skating, and does other out-of-door sports. I recommend this medicine to any one who is run-down and nervous and weak."—Mrs. PARKS, 106 Bond Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Won Fortune From Kaiser

Widow Broke Will Which Left Wealth to German Ruler

During the war the ex-Kaiser of Germany just missed adding another million to his fortune by an adverse decision of the Dresden High Court. A wealthy Saxon died and left the greater part of his wealth to Wilhelm II., the will leaving his widow almost penniless.

The widow asked the ex-Kaiser to renounce the legacy in her favor, and on his refusal, she brought an action to have the will declared illegal. The court, decided in her favor, and awarded her the big sum her husband had willed to the ex-Kaiser.

Sun Keeps Earth Going

If the earth were taken away from the sun for a year the ocean would not only be frozen, but the atmosphere would be condensed to liquid air, washing only the icy rocks of a frozen sea, in the opinion of Professor H. N. Russell, of Princeton.

his head. Eggleston stood, quietly, his head lowered a bit so that his study of the girl at the fireplace, whose back was partly turned to him, had the effect of an inner as well as outward scrutiny.

Suddenly, as if she were startled, Joanna wheeled and met the banker's stare. A hand fluttered nervously to her breast. For a brief moment she trembled, as if frightened. "I knew—that you were watching me!" she breathed.

Brandon dropped his book.

"The atmosphere is charged," he remarked dryly. "I am confronted with moods. Miss Manners refuses to smoke despite the fact that on our way here she stopped to buy a charmingly expensive holder ornamented with emeralds. She found the room too forbidding. Now my uncle is mysteriously detached." To Eggleston he continued: "I hope your luncheon is not to be a heavy affair!"

Joanna was confused. She wanted to refute that accusation that it was the house of her host that oppressed her.

Eggleston rescued her with a stiff, formal greeting that ignored Brandon's allusions.

Joanna made a valiant effort to throw off the shyness that constantly threatened her in the presence of the great banker who knew the secret of her mystery. She knew, instinctively, that she had not been asked to visit him, at his home, without some very definite reason. But whatever this reason might be, she was convinced that it, also, would be kept from her. Eggleston's phrases were formal, cold; yet, now and then, she was sure she detected something in his manner—that was quite all that she could determine about it, that it was, simply, "something." As yet the mind of Miss Twenty-seven had not become expertly analytical.

"I understand," the banker, said, when they had taken their places at the table in a massive dining room—a room as sombre as the library which throned the girl of the painting—"that you were definitely launched last night, and that you were quite a success. That is what my nephew, here, has given me to understand."

"It was glorious!" Joanna agreed. "Miss Coutant is very good to me."

"You have not, then, formed any substantial ambitions. You are the trustee of a fortune. I am interested in your immediate future."

Joanna looked up quickly. "I should be willing to follow any instruction you give me," she said, quietly. "If you give me none, I can do nothing else but enjoy myself according to my own inclinations. I have always wanted little things that I couldn't have. Now that I may have the big ones that are better, I shall simply have them—that's all I can do, it seems."

"As your banker," Eggleston returned, "I am wondering if, since that is your inclination, some of your securities should not be turned into cash. Already you have expended some $120,000. That is within a few days. If you continue at that rate you will need actual money. You must give me my instructions."

Joanna saw that Brandon was watching her furtively. She felt the need of a defense, but, instead, plunged into an offensive.

"I am going to spend a great deal of money," she said. "There are so many things to buy, and money doesn't seem to count for much in Miss Coutant's world." So was silent for a moment, then asked suddenly:

"How far does a million dollars go, Mr. Eggleston?"

"Not very far," he replied, "when entrusted to the three companions, Vanity, Extravagance, and Desire. They, I believe, are the chief advisers of the young women of this day."

"Are they?" Joanna asked earnestly. "I have always found that my chief friends were Misunderstanding, Distrust and Envy."

"A great modern banker, a despot whose whim echoed as thunder through the marts of finance, and a modern, younger man, whose pastime was the baffling of feminine artifice, looked across the table into the fresh, young, modern face of a girl who was just blossoming out from Miss Twenty-seven of the silks. The banker remembered, strangely, a vision of gliding legs and flamboyant rouse that came awkwardly through his office door, with the air of one who was being trapped. Brandon remembered the girl who had "no place to go," except to her silk counter or her rooming house. And Joanna understood why they looked at her.

Is there a baby or young children in your home? If there is you should not be without a box of Baby's Own Tablets. Childhood ailments come quickly and means should always be at hand to promptly fight them. Baby's Own Tablets are the ideal home remedy. My baby suffered terribly from indigestion and vomiting, but the Tablets soon set her right and now she is in perfect health. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

To Protect Travellers

Machine Guns Mounted on Trains in Mexico

Machine guns are mounted on trains leaving the international boundary between Arizona and Mexico, to protect travellers from the depredations of rebellious factions in interior Mexico.

Military escorts on the trains have been doubled from 50 to 100 men on each train. The machine guns are set in place at both ends of the carrier.

These precautions, say military chiefs at Nogales, Sonora, are taken because of the activity of Yaqui Indian bands in Sonora.

Cases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases—of consumption—of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted. When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. SHORTAGE IN SEED OATS

Realizing that a serious shortage of seed oats exists in many districts in the province, effort to meet the situation have been made jointly by the Provincial and Dominion Departments of Agriculture. The efforts have been directed towards conserving the supply of seed oats obtainable in the province, and towards bringing farmers to a proper realization of the situation.

A complete survey of Central and Northern Alberta has been made by W. J. Stephen, Field Crops Commissioner of the Provincial Government, and in the southern part by G. M. Stewart, of the Dominion Seed Branch.

It is found that while the shortage of seed oats will be serious in many districts, some districts will have a surplus, and steps are now being taken to test out the germinating qualities of what oats are available.

The Department of Agriculture urges all farmers who have oats which they expect will make seed, to secure an immediate germination test, in order that they may settle at once the question as to whether they will require seed from outside sources or not.

quire seed from outside sources or not.

The Department also urges those farmers who will definitely require seed oats to place their orders at once with their local elevators. This is to obviate the shipment out of the province of oats which might be otherwise used in the province for seed. If the seed oats available in the province are stored by the local elevators and not shipped out of the province, the situation can be taken care of. In fairness to the elevator companies who have agreed to store seed oats, farmers needing the seed should place their orders at once.

Farmers who wish to secure registered seed oats should apply at once to the Field Crops Branch, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

A NOVEL CORN-BIN

Grain, especially when new, is apt to become mouldy if stored in the ordinary bin, where it lies an inert mass. Because of this, most poultry-keepers buy only small quantities at a time, and thus pay more for their supplies than if they bought at wholesale rates. To obviate this tendency of grain to become spotted and mouldy, a revolving bin has recently been put on the market which turns over at least part of its contents every time the bin is used, and thus by promoting frequently movement prevents the grains from sticking together and deteriorating in quality. The bin is of the usual rectangular shape, with a hinged lid which covers the front half of the top and can be securely fastened down. Its special feature is that it is mounted on a stand on which it swings quite freely, two screws, projecting from the sides of the bin and fitting into grooves in the stand, serving as pivots on which the bin revolves. The appliance is made in three sizes, to hold 1 cwt., 2 cwt., and 3 cwt. respectively, and even the largest model will revolve freely if a margin of 6 inches is allowed between it and the wall next to which it stands. So well is it made, that where there is a shortage of storage room the bin may be left outside without any risk of the contents deteriorating, provided it is placed in a tilted position, so as to allow the rain-water to run off.

SUGAR FROM SAWDUST

A striking announcement was made by Dr. W. R. Ormandy at the Congress of Chemists recently held in London. It was a well-known scientific fact, he said, that by suitably heating wood cellulose with dilute acids under pressure sugar could be obtained; but there had been certain practical difficulties in the way which had threatened to prevent the process from ever becoming a commercial success. After many experiments, however, and the expenditure of a quarter of a million sterling in research work, the difficulties had been overcome, and the production of sugar from sawdust was now "a practical commercial proposition." 65 lbs. of sugar, it was stated, had been obtained from 100 lbs. of dry sawdust; and as it is estimated that one-fifth of the world's timber crop is wasted through its conversion into sawdust, the importance of the discovery is at once apparent.

The Income Tax

In the discussions now proceeding throughout Canada regarding Federal taxation, and in particular the campaign being waged by the Retail Trade Bureau and the Canadian Board of Trade in favor of the abolition of the Income Tax, there is recognition of one outstanding fact. That is, that the Dominion Government must raise a large revenue in order to meet national obligations. Past Budget statements at Ottawa further indicate that the present volume of revenue is required to meet our war indebtedness and obligations and the current expenditures of the Dominion, except, of course, insofar as current expenditures can be reduced through greater economy and efficiency. Such reductions, cannot, however, be all effected immediately, while the public demand for decreased taxation is rather insistent.

It would appear axiomatic, therefore, that if the Income Tax is to be repealed, some other source of revenue to make good the fifty odd million dollars obtained annually through this tax must be tapped. Where that money is to come from, and whether it would not simply mean the introduction of new or additional taxes in some other form, advocates of the repeal of the Income Tax do not explain. They do say that great savings can be effected in Government administration, in Government purchases, in a smaller Civil Service, and in Government expenditures generally, but, as already stated, these cannot be brought about immediately to offset the complete stoppage of Income Tax Revenues.

Advocates of the repeal of the Income Tax do, however, present a strong and logical case as to the ultimate national effect of the abolition of Income Taxes, and their views are worthy of the most careful and serious consideration.

It is argued that the Income Tax is not only unsound but unjust in that it practically amounts to the imposition of a penalty on the most enterprising, energetic, and productive citizens, who, by their labor and thrift earn larger incomes than do the less energetic and progressive citizen. Such a tax, they argue, discourages men in their best years and impels them to emigrate to the United States where their experience and ability is recognized and rewarded and where only a fraction of their earnings are taken in taxation as compared with Canada.

It is further argued that, while an Income Tax may be a sound and wise policy in European countries whose development has reached a mature stage, and where there are vast accumulations of wealth, it is a fatal policy for a young and undeveloped country like Canada, inasmuch as it operates to discourage investment in development and productive enterprises; that instead of encouraging development and production, Canada's future demands that every encouragement should be given, and that through such development only can a larger and permanent population be secured, and, ultimately, necessary revenues to discharge our heavy war indebtedness and provide required business for our railways and industrial establishments.

Again, say the advocates of repeal, the Income Tax acts as a barrier to the investment in Canada by men of wealth in the United States, Great Britain, Holland, Switzerland, and other countries who have money to invest, and who would thus assist in developing the resources of Canada, but who hesitate to do so in view of the fact that their incomes from such investment are so heavily taxed.

It must be admitted that these are weighty arguments, and they must be given consideration if Canada is to deal with this taxation problem from the viewpoint of the future as well as of the present. And it is to the future we must look to retire our heavy war debt and relieve the Dominion of this burden which now hampers our best efforts.

On the other hand, it is urged by those who favor retention of the Income Tax that it is essentially the fairest tax that can be imposed, inasmuch as it calls upon people to pay in proportion to their ability to do so as represented by their annual income. Further, that it is the only way whereby men and women who are not now engaged in any work of production but who are living on invested capital can be made to contribute their proper share to the cost of Government. It was contended during the closing years of the war, and the argument still holds good in numerous instances, that whereas thousands of men gave their lives, others amassed fortunes, now safely invested, and that they should be required to pay through a tax on the income derived from those invested profits.

Then, coming back to the opening paragraphs of this article, if the Income Tax is repealed, how and where is the necessary revenue thus lost to be obtained? The Canadian Council of Agriculture oppose repeal, not only because they regard an Income Tax as a very fair method, but because they see in its abrogation the passing of any possibility of further tariff reductions, and even fear increases in order to make good the loss of revenue.

Possibly the only course that will commend itself generally to the country, and possibly the only feasible one, will be found in further pursuing the policy of last session of Parliament and gradually reducing the Income Tax, step by step, until it reaches the vanishing point. If the Government deliberately announced a graduated scale of reductions covering a period of years it would provide the necessary incentive to capital, both at home and abroad, to invest in productive and development enterprises, and encourage the enterprising youth of Canada to remain at home to enjoy the rewards before them, while at the same time it would enable the Government to inaugurate those necessary economies to offset losses in revenue without having recourse to other forms of taxation.

Plunkett's Next Hit

Revue Comes West After Striking Success in the East

Capt. M. W. Plunkett, producer of the famous Dumbells, has scored one of the most outstanding successes of his career with a new song-and-dance hit, "Capt. Plunkett's Revue of 1926."

It marks a revolution in revue entertainment—a high-speed, elaborately-staged, clean-cut English-type attraction with more pretty girls than a beauty contest and a superb singing and comedy cast.

The usual chorus has been replaced by a Leonidoff dance-ballet entirely made up of specialty girls. The comedy, imported direct from London music halls is in charge of a battery of comedians headed by Fred Karno, Jr., the English star. In the east, too, are the two Canadian winners of international beauty awards—Miss Toronto and Miss Winnipeg.

The company plays the following engagements in the west:

Week of Nov. 29th, Walker Theatre, Winnipeg; Dec. 6, 7, 8, Regina Theatre, Regina; Dec. 9, 10, 11, Empire Theatre, Saskatoon; Week of Dec. 13th, Empire Theatre, Edmonton; Week of Dec. 20th, Grand Theatre, Calgary; Dec. 27, 28, Majestic Theatre, Lethbridge.

SCIATIC SUFFERING

Comes Because the Nerves Are Starved for Better Blood

There are excellent reasons why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved beneficial in the most severe cases of sciatica, neuralgia and other complaints in that group known as disorders of the nerves. Each of these complaints exist because the blood is thin and watery, and the nerves are thus literally starving for the nourishment rich red blood supplies them. Any increase, therefore, in the richness of the blood speedily and beneficially acts upon the nerves and the torturing pains of sciatica and neuralgia disappear. It is because of their specific action on the blood, thus feeding the starved nerves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been so successful in the treatment of these troubles. As proof of this we give the case of Mrs. P. N. Bezanson, South Alton, N.S., who says:—"Two years ago I was attacked with sciatica and neuralgia in my back and leg. The pain was so severe that I could not walk. Even to move caused me agony, and I had to go to bed. The doctor called in was not able to do more than deaden the pain, and I had been in bed for six weeks when my grandmother came to see me and strongly urged me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. She said she has had a similar attack and it was these pills that had restored her to health. I at once got a supply and had only used four boxes when I found great relief. Gladly I kept on taking the pills, and soon after found myself as well as ever I had been. Gratitude for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me makes me urge others similarly afflicted to try them."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

It will Relieve a Cold.—Colds are the commonest ailments of mankind and if neglected may lead to serious conditions. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will relieve the bronchial passages of inflammation speedily and thoroughly and will strengthen them against subsequent attack. And as it eases the inflammation it will usually stop the cough because it allays the irritations in the throat. Try it and prove it.

Watched Workman

Cast Carillon Bells

Premier King Cast Canadian and English Coin into Molten Metal

While molten metal poured at Croydon for one of the great bells of the carillon to be erected in the tower of the House of Commons at Ottawa, Premier Mackenzie King cast in a Canadian cent bearing a date of the Laurier regime. The Canadian Prime Minister stood watching the running metal for a moment and, as if an afterthought, took an English half-penny from his pocket. "Equal status," he said, throwing the English coin in too.

Addressing the workmen engaged in casting the bells later, Mr. King said one idea of Ottawa's carillon was that it might recall the chimes of Westminster and symbolize the harmony between the two parliaments. The carillon will consist of 53 bells ranging in weight from 14 pounds to 10 tons.

Empire Air Conference May Meet in Dominion in 1928

The Canadian Government has invited the Imperial air conference to meet in Canada. The date of the conference has not been determined yet but it is not probable that it will be before the year 1928. The report of the Imperial Conference committee on air communications, which has been adopted by the conference, approves the proposed new air routes to the Far East and recommends that the development of other air service should receive the attention of the Governments concerned, and that the Dominions and India should examine the possibility of erecting nucleus mooring bases for airships.

Earlier in the conference Premier Mackenzie King announced the intention of the Canadian Government to erect a mooring mast in Canada.

The Rhodes Trustees statement for the academic year 1925-26 just issued says 63 scholars took up scholarships for the first time during the year. The number actually in residence for part or all of the period was 188 of which 97 were from the British Empire and 91 from the United States. Of these 43 were engaged in natural science and medicine and 54 in law. The new year starts with 183 men in residence. Five old scholars died during the year. The first awards, connected with the foundation of the Rhodes Travelling Fellowship will be made early in 1927. It is expected Rhodes House, Oxford, will be completed in 1928.

Labor-Saving Device

According to the Nor-West Farmer a feature of the present year's harvest was the use of "combines"—the combine reaper and thresher now being made by several implement manufacturers in this country. Costing about $2,000 each they can be operated by two men. One farmer using this apparatus claims to have covered from 35 to 50 acres per day at a cost of 45 cents per acre. He says they save the cost of twine and nine-tenths of the labor of harvesting.

PARLIAMENT IS PREPARING FOR EARLY SESSION

Ottawa.—With the opening of Parliament only a few days away the cabinet is meeting for several hours daily. The speech from the throne, which will be delivered on December 10, is in the course of preparation and it is understood that it has been the subject of cable communication between Premier King and his cabinet in Ottawa.

Announcement is expected very shortly of the awarding of the steamship contract which will complete Canada's obligations under the West Indies treaty. The tariff concessions necessary to implement the treaty were passed by Parliament at its last session but the special steamship services, which form a part of Canada's bargain, comprised the only thing which kept the treaty from being fully in effect. All the islands of the West Indies, Bermuda, British Guiana and British Honduras have ratified the treaty but have been waiting for the steamship service.

W. J. Bowser Retires

Former Premier of British Columbia Withdraws as Candidate for Party Leadership

Kamloops, B.C. — W. J. Bowser, former premier of British Columbia and for many years a dominant figure in provincial politics, definitely announced his retirement as a candidate for the party leadership at a session of the Conservative convention.

Mr. Bowser's decision to retire, it was explained by his friends, in a statement given out under his authority, was reached in order that "a split in the party might be avoided."

"The old chief believes he could have carried the convention by a small majority," according to the statement, "but in so doing he would cause a serious split in the party. At his age he did not wish to undertake the difficult task resulting from such a break and he felt in any case that for the good of the party, he should retire."

Condemns American Films

India Protest Against Pictures of "High Speed Civilization"

London.—Apprehension that the Imperial Conference does not realize the gravity of the situation arising from America's dominance of the world film market is expressed in reports from India.

"No language is too strong," says the Times of India in an editorial published here, "to condemn the films with which America is plaguing India."

Hindoo members of the Legislature have demanded that the Government prevent a continuance of "this evil stream of misrepresentation," and have been told that it was not possible. The newspaper concludes that no remedy is possible unless the authorities are prepared to take ruthless action.

Obtain Aviators' Certificates

Two Women Members of London Flying Club Pass Tests

London.—Two more women have obtained aviators' certificates, at the Stag Lane Aerodrome Club. They are Lady Bailey, wife of the South African millionaire, Sir Abe Bailey, and Miss Norah O'Brien. Both are members of the London Flying Club, and passed their qualifying tests in a two-seater Moth. The tests included landing and taking off, cutting a figure of eight in the air, ascending to a specified height and landing with the engine shut off.

Saskatchewan Sells Bonds

Contrary to general opinion, American Indians are no longer a vanishing race. Their numbers in the United States are increasing.

To Adopt New Methods

New Zealand Will be the First to Adopt New Plan of Empire Communication

Edinburgh.—The most distant of the Dominions, New Zealand, may be the first to adopt the new methods of communication which were indicated in the report of the Imperial conference premiers' committee on inter-imperial relations—a system of personal contact, both in London and in the Dominion capitals, to supplement the present system of inter-communication by reciprocating in the supply of information on affairs requiring joint consideration.

Premier J. G. Coates, speaking here today, announced the intention of the New Zealand Government to consider methods of putting into early effect the suggestions in the report as to the establishment of personal contact between the Dominions and Great Britain and the Dominions between themselves.

The plan indicated in the report of the premiers' committee is the appointment of special representatives who will keep the governments to which they are attached adequately informed of the policies of their home governments.

Mennonites Leave Canada

Objecting to School Laws, a Party of Mennonites Leave for South America

Winnipeg.—Settlement ties of 50 years were broken recently when 250 Mennonites from Manitoba settlements began a long journey to Paraguay, South America.

Those leaving the settlements are members of a group which has repeatedly expressed dissatisfaction with the educational laws of the province, which, they allege, interfere with the Mennonite religious beliefs.

The Mennonites will proceed to New York and sail from there for their new home under the auspices of a New York land company.

The exodus may be the forerunner of a greater movement, Mennonite leaders state. Many others in the settlements in Manitoba will join the group in Paraguay if conditions there are found satisfactory.

Germany Ready To Help

Now Up to France to Show Appreciation, Says Chancellor Wirth

Berlin.—Former Chancellor Wirth declared in the Reichstag that Germany's entry into the League of Nations and German readiness to promote stabilization of the French currency were national sacrifices. His remark that it behooved the French to appreciate this fact and that it was the duty of the German parliament to declare before the whole world that "these sacrifices demand French concessions" was greeted with thunderous applause.

Dr. Wirth resumed: "Now France has the floor, and must show if she intends to serve European solidarity or the rather narrow minded egoism of a single nation."

U.S. Trade Isolation

Washington.—Trade isolation is a dubious prescription for the remedy of the ills of United States farmers in the opinion of the United States Chamber of Commerce foreign commerce department. Surveying the agricultural export prices over a 15-year period, 1910-1914, in a statement here, the department also assailed the theory that the farmer is at the mercy of the foreign buyer and that prices are fixed at Liverpool.

May Withdraw Allied Control

Paris.—Early withdrawal of inter-allied control of Germany's military affairs, to be succeeded by periodic supervision by the League of Nations, is now looked upon as certain in French official circles. The French and German governments it was said by a high authority, have virtually agreed as to the means whereby this change may be made.

Ottawa.—Canada's attitude on the perplexing problems of deep water development of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterways, indicated by the published report of the joint board of Canadian and American engineers, probably will receive the consideration of the Dominion Government as soon as the report is fully complete.

INITIAL PAYMENT OF FORTY CENTS FOR POOL OATS

Regina.—Initial payment on all grades of pool oats will immediately be increased by six cents per bushel according to a decision arrived at by the central board of the Canadian Wheat Pool. This will raise the initial price basis No. 2 C.W. oats in store at Fort William to 40 cents per bushel.

The change of price will take effect November 29 at all country elevators. Pool members who have already delivered and received their initial payment on the 31 cents basis, will receive the additional payment immediately on the surrender of their growers' certificate. All oat certificates should therefore be turned in at the earliest possible moment.

This decision has been brought about by the altered situation on the market for oats. At the time the initial payment was set, conditions did not appear to warrant any change from the initial payment set last year. Market conditions in respect to the domestic demand for seed and feed oats have since developed, that have led the board to the conclusion that an increase on the initial payment may now be made with safety and advantage to coarse grain pool members.

Australia Likely To Establish Wheat Pool

Would Have Less Difficulty Than Canada Says G. W. Robertson

Winnipeg.—Australia is increasing its wheat production at a great rate and is definitely moving toward the establishment of a wheat pool system such as in operation in Canada, according to George W. Robertson, of Regina, secretary of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool. Mr. Robertson, along with other officials of the Canadian pools, recently returned from a visit to the Antipodes and in an interview here reviewed the present system of marketing in Australia.

Australia at the present time has voluntary pools and plans now are under way to institute the contract system and possibly a central selling agency along similar lines to the Canadian pools.

In organizing contract pools, Mr. Robertson believes Australia would have less difficulty than that experienced in Canada, owing to the non-existence of a grain exchange.

Electrified Eggs Latest Idea

Liverpool.—Electrified eggs, guaranteed to keep for years and designed to add in keeping down the cost of living, have been placed on the British market. This invention, by which eggs are sterilized by means of an electrically heated oil bath, makes it possible, it is claimed, to keep eggs almost indefinitely.

Settle Pacific Cable Dispute

Premiers' Committee of Imperial Conference Has Revised Agreement

Ottawa.—Powers of the Dominion Government are increased and powers of the British Government are diminished as regards control of the Pacific Cable under the new agreement made by the Premiers' committee of the Imperial Conference in London. Two instead of three members will represent the British Government on the board and the chairman will be appointed by agreement between the partner governments instead of by the British Government solely.

The revision of the agreement marks the end of a dispute which has been going on for years regarding the management of the Pacific Cable between Canada and Australasia. The various Dominion Governments interested are represented on the board and will share the profits on operation of the cable. Coincident with the revision of the agreement a new cable between the west coast of Vancouver Island and New Zealand and Australia has been opened, doubling the facilities.

Leonid Krassin Dead

Soviet Diplomat Was Victim of Pernicious Anaemia

London.—Leonid Krassin, Soviet charge d'affaires in London, died here Nov. 24.

Friends of Krassin who saw him recently were shocked at his death. He appeared in good spirits and seemed to be shaking off the pernicious anaemia from which he had long suffered.

At the Foreign Office in Downing street, tribute was paid to M. Krassin as a sensible and responsible diplomat who, if he had not died, undoubtedly would have brought about improved relations between Russia and Great Britain. It was said that Krassin's greatest value to Moscow was that he commanded the respect and confidence of the British financial world.

Franco-German Commission

Suggestion of Premier King for Boundary Commission Is Well Received

London.—The Evening News says an indirect but important outcome of the Imperial conference is the proposal to constitute a Franco-German boundary commission, modelled on American-Canadian commissions, which would settle all questions relating to the Franco-German frontier. It is understood the suggestion originated with Premier Mackenzie King, who submitted it to Lord D'Abernon, British ambassador at Berlin, who was much impressed with it and readily undertook to give it his practical support.

Appointed Translator at Geneva

Ottawa.—J. E. A. Johnstone, Vancouver, has been appointed translator in the International Labor Office of the League of Nations at Geneva.

WILL APPROACH COMPANIES IN WAGE DISPUTE

Montreal.—"No reason for excitement exists," declared W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, when questioned in regard to the railway situation in Canada caused by a ballot of conductors, trainmen and yardmen which refused a recent award of a conciliation board which refused them a wage increase. Some 800 representatives of these employees met in session here.

Mr. Lee made his statement when he was questioned tonight as to the prospects of a strike developing. "Matters with us are conducted in a business-like way," he said, and explained that following the termination of the conferences, the matter would then be one for approach to the railway companies.

Light was thrown by a dispatch from Moncton on the attitude which would be taken by the locomotive engineers should a strike of conductors and trainmen result. George A. Stone, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in an interview in the New Brunswick city, said the brotherhood was bound by a contract with the Canadian railways, and the executive officers of that union had announced that the engineers at least would observe the contract. Nevertheless, Mr. Stone said, the engineers must have regard for the safety of passengers and of other employees and this would doubtless be considered should there be a strike of the other branches.

Although no official statement was issued from the conference it is understood the results of the recent referendum have been forwarded to the federal department of Labor.

Satisfactory progress was reported to the chief scout. Membership in the Boy Scouts in Canada now exceeds 40,000. A congratulatory report was read from Sir Alfred Pickford, of the Imperial Boy Scout Association, who toured Canada last spring.
